

Key Management

Gautam Godhwani, Co-Founder and Chief Executive Officer

Gautam runs the show at SimplyHired, and the buck stops in his cube. Prior to SimplyHired, he co-founded the India Community Center to help bring the SF Bay Area community closer together. Before that, he was CEO and co-founder of AtWeb, an Internet 1.0 company acquired by Netscape/AOL in 1998. AtWeb made a product called Web Site Garage that helped millions of small businesses "tune-up" their websites, and registered them with all the leading search engines. Before he invented the Internet, Gautam worked for several small businesses including HP, IBM, and Microsoft.

Dion Lim, President and Chief Operating Officer

Dion keeps things humming here at SimplyHired with a mix of entrepreneurial passion and operational excellence. An experienced tech exec, his resume reads like a short history of the Internet itself: co-founder of Epinions.com (now Shopping.com), COO at Chinese portal Sina.com, Director of Biz Dev at Quote.com (now Lycos), co-founder of the "dot-com Petri dish" Round Zero, marketing exec at Schwab (ok, we're pretty sure he's making up some of this stuff) and way back when: excel jockey at Morgan Stanley and due diligence grunt at H&Q. In fact, the only startup we know he didn't have a hand in is Initech... although he does have a certain penchant for red Swingline staplers.

Peter Weck, Co-Founder and Chief Technology Officer

Peter is the alpha geek at SimplyHired, and he's spent many long years missing parties where cool people hang out in order to earn his Tri Lam credentials. Along with Gautam and Anil, Peter was a co-founder and CTO of AtWeb. After AtWeb was acquired by Netscape/AOL, Peter became Engineering Director where he led several geek armies running AOL Shopping, WebMail, and AOL Address Book. Prior to figuring out how to turn millions of free CDs into beer coasters, Peter worked for HP, GeoWorks, and Summation Legal Technologies. Peter graduated from UC Berkeley in 1994 with degrees in Computer Science and Mathematics, and had absolutely no social life whatsoever.

Jerry Crowley, Chairman and acting Chief Financial Officer

Like a fine wine, Jerry brings a certain character and finesse to SimplyHired, which would otherwise be noticeably absent. As Chairman & CEO of Treehouse Limited, one of Silicon Valley's first entrepreneurial incubators, Jerry's roots reach deep. From semiconductors to search engines, Jerry has seen the full spectrum of Valley innovation. His 40+ years of high-tech experience include tours of duty as Founder, President & CEO of OKI Semiconductor, Chairman, President & CEO of Gazelle Microcircuits.
